

we all have a story

Share yours on our online community for NICU families

Every day, families face the difficult experience of having a baby born prematurely or with a health condition. Whether your baby is or has been in a NICU, or you have experienced a loss, you're not alone.

March of Dimes Share Your Story is an online community where you can find comfort, support and information from others who understand the challenges and uncertainties of the NICU experience.

from the community

Stacy (stacyat)

"Share Your Story has been my home from the second I found it. I can come here and speak my heart, and everyone understands and knows what to say to help. Community members have become family."

Helena (AlwaysAvasMom)

"When I need the world to stop and let me breathe, Share Your Story is where I go. It brought me out of the storm and helped me create my new normal."

Lauren (Akeelah's Mommy)

"Share Your Story is home to all of us who have not had that picture-perfect pregnancy, who struggle with little ones in the NICU or forever hold their child in their heart. It is where I found hope for the future."
